

A wide-angle photograph of the Shenzhen skyline at sunset. The sky is filled with soft, orange and pink clouds. The city's skyscrapers are silhouetted against the horizon, with their lights beginning to glow. The water in the foreground is calm, creating a clear reflection of the buildings and the sky. The overall mood is serene and modern.

Route2 Art and Technology Journey

【 Dafen Oil Painting Village】

Dafen Oil Painting Village is one of the world's largest oil painting production bases, bringing together over 10,000 artists and more than 600 galleries and studios. Renowned for hand-painted reproductions of classic masterpieces, it once accounted for over 60% of China's export market share and was often called the "Global Art Factory."

Today, the village is transforming into a hub for original art creation, exhibitions, and cultural experiences, regularly hosting art shows, workshops, and lectures, and featuring the Dafen Art Museum open to visitors.

We can stroll through its lanes, watch artists at work up close, try their hand at oil painting, or commission personalized artworks at affordable prices.

The village also offers cozy cafés and local snack spots, making it an ideal destination for photography, exploration, and a leisurely art-filled visit. visit duration: 1 hour.

【Huaqiangbei Museum】

The Huaqiangbei Museum in Shenzhen showcases the 40-year development and entrepreneurial spirit of Huaqiangbei's electronic market, integrating technology, art, and interactive exhibition areas. Covering approximately 3,000 square meters, it is an ideal place to explore the history of Huaqiangbei. Visit duration: 30 minutes.

【Huaqiangbei Electronics Market】

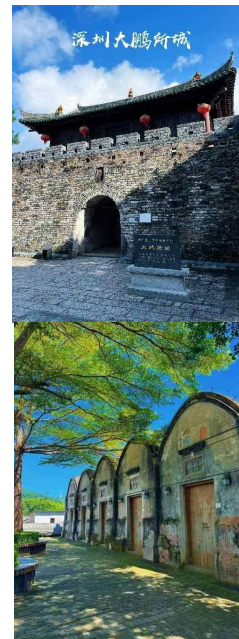

Located in Futian District, the Huaqiangbei Electronics Market in Shenzhen is the world's largest and most comprehensive electronics distribution hub, famously known as "China's No. 1 Electronics Street." The market comprises over 22 specialized electronics complexes, housing tens of thousands of vendors, offering a one-stop shopping experience for components, phone accessories, digital products, security equipment, and second-hand electronics. Iconic malls like SEG Plaza, Huaqiang Electronics World, and Yuanwang Digital City coexist with bustling street stalls and counters. Whether you are an electronics enthusiast, entrepreneur, or a curious tourist, you can find high-value smartwatches, headphones, drones, and DIY components here, while immersing yourself in the dynamic atmosphere of Shenzhen's hardware innovation and vibrant market culture. Route3 Historic Charm and Coastal Leisure

【Dapeng Fortress 】

Built in 1394 as a Ming Dynasty coastal defense outpost, Dapeng Fortress (also called Pengcheng) is where Shenzhen gets its nickname. Now a UNESCO heritage site, it offers a quiet escape into China's maritime past. Dapeng Fortress covers an area of approximately 110,000 square meters (about 11 hectares) and preserves nearly 100,000 square meters of ancient architectural complexes, including dozens of historical structures such as city gates, defensive walls, traditional residences, and temples

Key Sites Inside:

- General Lai Enjue's Mansion – Home of the Qing admiral who won the first battle against the British in the Opium Wars (1839). The mansion features traditional Qing-era architecture, imperial plaques, and multiple courtyards.
- Dapeng Fortress Museum – Exhibits explain the fortress's 600-year history, coastal defense systems, and local Hakka culture. A useful first stop to understand the site.
- Tianhou Palace (Mazu Temple) – A 500-year-old temple dedicated to the sea goddess Mazu, where sailors and generals prayed before voyages.

【Jiaochangwei Beach】

Jiaochangwei Beach offers a distinctive seaside experience, blending 3 kilometers of shoreline with a vibrant homestay village. The beach features both fine sand for relaxing strolls and tidal flats ideal for seashell hunting. From May to September, conditions are perfect for swimming and water sports.

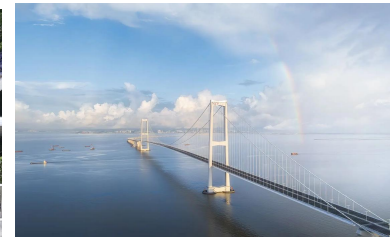

With nearly 400 homestays, visitors can choose from seaside views, artistic retro style, or modern minimalist design. Nearby, the historic Dapeng Fortress—the namesake of "Pengcheng"—adds cultural depth to the coastal getaway.

Route 4 Zhongshan & Cultural Exploration

Zhongshan City Tour

Itinerary: Shenzhen Shangri-La Hotel –Shenzhong Link – Former Residence of Dr. Sun Yat-sen – Zhan Garden – Shenzhen Shangri-La Hotel

Time	Content
13:00	Meet at hotel lobby

15:30-16:00	Transfer to Zhan Garden
16:00-17:00	Visit Zhan Garden
17:00-18:15	Back to hotel

Route 4 Zhongshan & Cultural Exploration

【Shenzhen–Zhongshan Link 】

This core transportation hub of the Guangdong–Hong Kong–Macao Greater Bay Area represents a total investment of approximately 46 billion yuan. It is one of the world's most challenging sea–crossing cluster projects. The 24–kilometer–long link features an innovative integrated design of "bridge, island, tunnel, and underwater interchange." The submerged tunnel section, stretching about 6.8 kilometers, is the world's first two–way, eight–lane immersed steel–shell concrete tunnel.

After seven years of construction, the link opened to traffic in June 2024, reducing travel time between Shenzhen and Zhongshan from two hours to just 30 minutes. The West Artificial Island includes an observation deck and an engineering exhibition hall, serving as a showcase for China's infrastructure technology. Beyond reshaping the transportation landscape of the Greater Bay Area, the project has set multiple world records, including the widest steel–shell immersed tunnel (two–way, eight lanes) and the deepest submerged tunnel burial depth.

【Dr. Sun Yat–sen's Former Residence 】

Located in Cuiheng Village, Zhongshan, this two–story brick–wood house (built 1892) blends Western exterior design with a traditional Lingnan interior. Visitors can explore Sun Yat–sen's study and bedroom, see the tree he planted in 1883, and visit the adjacent memorial hall showcasing his life and revolutionary legacy. The site provides a comprehensive look into his upbringing and contributions.

【Zhongshan Zhan Garden】

Zhongshan Zhan Garden is a classical private garden centered around the theme of "Filial Piety Culture." It was personally designed and funded by local entrepreneur Mr. Huang Yuanxin in 1998 for his parents to enjoy their later years, taking five years to complete. The name "Zhan" is derived from his mother's surname, reflecting deep family warmth and traditional ethics.

The garden blends Suzhou–Hangzhou–style garden art with Lingnan water town layouts, featuring elegantly arranged pavilions, towers, corridors, and bridges. It houses the Filial Piety Hall and thematic carvings of the "Twenty–Four Filial Piety Stories," creating a serene environment rich in cultural atmosphere.
